THE 1940 ELIZABETHAN

Foreword

Someone has significantly said: "Present day actions make future memories." That a portion of our school memories may be preserved both by picture and word, the Staff presents this sixth number of the Elizabethan. May its pages make pleasant reading in the years to come.

IN recognition of the generous spirit of those who have assisted in bettering public school education, thereby making possible to us the privilege and joys which were denied to many of them, we the Class of 1940 do respectfully dedicate this edition of our Yearbook to the citizens of Elizabethtown.

There have been six great events in the history of this world. The first was the appearance of Adam and Eve. The second was the rise of King Tut. The third was the death of Julius Caesar. The fourth was the crossing of the Atlantic by Columbus. The fifth was the reign of Jack Dempsey, and the sixth was the entrance of the Class of 1940 into Elizabethtown High School.

Of these, the first five were of minor importance. Adam and Eve, I believe, are now dead. King Tut is in a museum. Julius has been eclipsed by Mussolini, Columbus has moved to Ohio, and Jack Dempsey is just a faded cauliflower. But the Class of 1940 not only is history, but is still making history.

On September 8th, 1936, one hundred thirty one frightened freshmen crept hesitatingly through the portals of Elizabethtown High School, what instruments of torture might be awaiting us we did not know, the dungeon horrors of medieval England, to the guillotine of France, to the electric chair of modern America, we suspected and expected everything. We meek girls huddled into one group and the humble boys (there was no chivalry in our class in those days) huddled into another. Those stern, heartless teachers scared us by voicing nothing beyond ordinary directions. That pack of reprobates, the sophomores, also scared us by saying anything they could think of that might have a dampening effect on our ardor and to discourage our ambition to become educated so that we might all sometime be presidents of the United States.

In spite of all this, we prospered during that first year. Little by little our greenness wore off, and our true intelligent natures began to assert themselves. It was during that year that several of our members fell by the wayside. With a truly generous spirit, they decided that there were enough of us to become great without their assistance, and that they would rather live happily in the bliss of ignorance than to wallow along in the sorrows of knowledge. Or perhaps, it was when they learned that Alexander Hamilton left school at nine years and finally became Secretary of the Treasury that they decided against the evils of further education. Those of us remaining survived the various tasks set before us by those whose work was the creating geniuses, and came back in the fall of 1937 with the rank of sophomore.

During that second year it took the combined efforts of all our teachers, and the juniors and seniors to keep us properly squelched. In our new wisdom we wanted to symbolize the revolt of modern youth. And in that revolt several more of our members decided that work was more profitable than school. It was during that year that some of the boys in the class began to discover that the girls in the class were human beings, and were interesting; and likewise, a few of the feminine members discovered that a little smile is a dangerous thing. But it was not until our junior years that there developed any really serious love affairs. And even by the end of our second year we had not entirely learned that serious study is both unnecessary and unbecoming to a well-brought up high school youth.

Our third year in Elizabethtown High School was one of great progress. By now, we were mental giants in wisdom. We learned how to recite upon various subjects without advance preparation. We learned many successful excuses for avoiding home study and others for not having completed it. We became practised in the art of finding reasons to be away from school and other equally good arguments in favor of not making up the missing class work. We learned, also, that in union there is strength and that not more than one pupil should ever do a math lesson or complete a Latin translation. So it was with the newly-chosen class colors of blue and gold flying, and an inspiring motto of "There are no Alps" that in June of last year we stood upon the threshold of seniority.

This year is all too recent and fresh in our memories to need historical reproduction. Rather, I believe it more in keeping to take account of stock and list the damages which have been wrought in our passage through the schools of Elizabethtown. Of damage to the school I dare not report. The less said about penciled books, initialed desks, battered lockers and alcohol essays the better. Of damage to our minds, there has been little. We learned to get along with a maximum of flowery speech and a minimum of brain racking effort. Of physical wear I report the following: false teeth, six; wooden legs, none; glass eyes, none; broken bones, five; fallen arches, none, and broken hearts, twenty. All in all, we, now eighty-eight in number, report to graduation in fair condition and with bright hopes for the future.

The last four years have been happy ones. Our teachers and our principal have done everything that human beings possibly could do to make our time spent here both profitable and pleasant, even granting us at the Junior-Senior banquet the great concession of dancing, an unwritten event heretofore in the annals of the Elizabethtown High School. (Who says we are a back number!) Our associations with one another have also been very pleasant, and fruitful of lasting friendships that will continue for the remainder of our times. Whatever our success and future happiness, I am sure that each one of us will be able to look back on our days at Elizabethtown High School and say "Those were the four happiest years of my life."

CLASS POEM

A little while before we leave this place,
We fain would linger 'mongst deserted halls
Rememb'ring each familiar, friendly face,
Musing o'er joys we knew within these walls.

A little while we'd stop, to think once more
Of that momentous day so long ago,
When we as freshmen, first approached this door
Scarce dreaming of how much we'd some day know

A little while we fain would linger yet
Recalling hours of victory so sweet,
Yet blending with our pride a vague regret
For those rare times our banner knew defeat

A little while before we call "well done"
Our training for the tasks we have to meet,
We'd like to retrace school careers once more,
And round out all the things left incomplete

A little while before we leave our school,
And teachers who have given us their best,
We'd like to prove our worth to carry out
The principles of living they have stressed

A little while we'd pause—and try to tell
Just what we're feeling in our hearts to-day
A little while we'd pause, then say—farewell!
The hour has come! We must be on our way

HIGH SCHOOL SONG

Faithful and true-hearted	Honor she has taken
Let us boost for our old High	On the track and with the ball
We'll revere her and defend her,	May she always rank the highest;
May her colors proudly fly	May her colors never fall
We will stand for her united	We will stand for her united
When her team is on the field	When her team is on the field.
Her colors streaming	Her boys the fleetest,
Her faces beaming	Her girls the sweetest,
So here's a cheer for her	So here's a cheer for her
Whom we all love so well	Whom we all love so well

Chorus:

joyous and ever loyal
Let us boost for our old High
Let every heart sing,
Let every voice ring
There's no time to grieve or sigh.
As ever onward, our course pursuing
May defeat ne'er our ardor cool
But, united, we will boost for her
Our old High School

A large group photograph of the 1911-1912 Class. The group consists of approximately 60 individuals, including students and faculty, posed in several rows in front of a building with large windows. The students are dressed in formal attire typical of the early 20th century. The photograph is framed by a decorative border.

drive for larger memberships and a greater determination to promote clean living, clean speech, clean athletics, and clean scholarship. It is the feeling of the advisers that the emphasis should be placed here. Under the guidance of each club, a course in "Bible Study" was given, and certificates awarded. The outstanding social events were the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, and the Father-Son Banquet.

Under the able direction of Mrs. Herr, "Big Hearted Herbert" was presented by the class in their senior year. The play proved to be one of the most enjoyable performances ever given by a high school group. The leading character is Herbert Kalness (Jack Horner), a self-made man, who prides himself on being plain. His devoted wife (Lauretta Wittel) succeeds, however, in modernizing their home quite successfully, although she has never been able to banish the awful portrait of Grandpa Kalness nor the big brass cuspidor, two objects which her husband insists upon keeping in the living room. The day arrives when their daughter (Mabel Barley) becomes engaged and, at a dinner to celebrate the event, Herbert has a great tantrum which even his wife cannot excuse. The next day, he brings his best customer and his wife (Neil Dunkelberger and Lillian Raebuck) home to dinner. This time he finds his home and his family plainer than he ever imagined they could be. In the final, riotous scene of a plain dinner served in the plainest of ways, Herbert realizes that at heart he is not so plain after all, and that his life will be happier if he be more a father and less a tyrant. The other members of the class to play important roles were: Anna Chapman, Joe Gingrich, David Madeira, Ellen Espenshade, Dale Seiders, Donald Ulrich, Betty Brinser and Clifford Shank.

Under the direction of Mr Seiders, assisted by Mr Wenger, the Athletic Department sponsored "Abie's Irish Rose," a comedy in three acts by Anne Nichols. Abram Levy, whose father's heart is set on his marrying a nice little Jewish girl, brings home as his bride Rosemary Murphy. To appease his first wrath Abie introduces Rosemary as Rosie Murphyski. Levy is fooled until Rosie's father arrives and turns out to be Patrick Murphy. Right there a comic war is started. Having been married by a Methodist minister, Abie and Rose are married again by a rabbi to please Levy, and a third time by a Catholic priest to satisfy Murphy. When twins are born a year later, Rose's wisdom in naming the girl Rebecca, and the boy Patrick Joseph hits the family feud long enough to bring the play to a close.

Inasmuch as the Athletic Department is represented by all the students of the high school, the roles were not restricted to any one class but were played as follows:

Mrs Isaac Cohen—Jean Grosh, Class of '38
 Mr Isaac Cohen—Harold Raffensperger, Class of '42
 Dr. Jacob Samuels—Wilbur Aungst, Class of '40
 Mr Solomon Levy—Harold Garman, Class of '39
 Mr. Abraham Levy—John Lebo, Class of '42
 Miss Mary Rosemary Murphy—Lorraine Blasser, Class of '41
 Mr Patrick Murphy—Robert Breneman, Class of '40
 Father Whalen—William Wagner, Class of '40

ATHLETICS

Largely due to the fine coaching of Mr. Wenger, the gridiron eleven in blue and orange completed one of the most successful seasons, regardless of the fact the boys lost the last game to Patton Trade, their traditional rival. Of the nine games played, there were five victories, three defeats, and one tie.

Under the direction of Mr. Wenger, the Athletic Coach, a successful season was completed with the basketball team annexing the Elizabethtown Rotary Club Cup, by defeating the Elizabethtown College J-V's, and the Patton Trade School. Our boys also finished tie with Mount Joy for the runner-up position in section one of the Lancaster County High School league, by winning nine out of twelve games, and coming through with flying colors in fifteen out of twenty-five starts

 May 29—Commencement—Farewell, Alma Mater.
 May 30—We're off!—To the Fair!

Now coming with me!
I expect, yet to be,
The second, for which the first was made,
Ourselves are in his hand
Now. A whole I have planned,
Yet knows but half, trust God, see all, nor be afraid

— Robert Browning
